

The thought that my ability to benefit from any programming that I choose to subscribe to, that does not violate US laws, is offensive to me, and I believe represents unfair limitation of competition. Having worked in the broadcast radio industry for 10+ years, it is their practice of longer and more frequent commercial breaks that is causing the public to choose other sources of information. Will the NAB next be allowed to make intallation of automobile cd players illegal, because we choose to listen to music on cd instead of their broadcasts. I choose to pay for a service in XM that provides me with options, sound quality, and choices that I cant get on broadcast radio. I travel extensively and news, weather and traffic reports provided to me by XM is extremely valuable to me. I would be inclined to take strong opposition to the limitation of its legal programming
